

Member Classes Science Borealis

Class A: Voting Members of Science Borealis are defined as Members of the Core Operational/Leadership Teams, founding members of Science Borealis, and all “active members” of the Editorial Team. An “active member” of the Editorial Team is defined as one who has attended editorial meetings and contributed editorial posts in the last year.

Class B: Non-Voting Members of Science Borealis include all registered syndicated bloggers who have opted in to receive membership status. Members are entitled to use Science Borealis badge on their blog, receive member newsletters and information on Science Borealis activities.
